

Wayne Out There (.com)

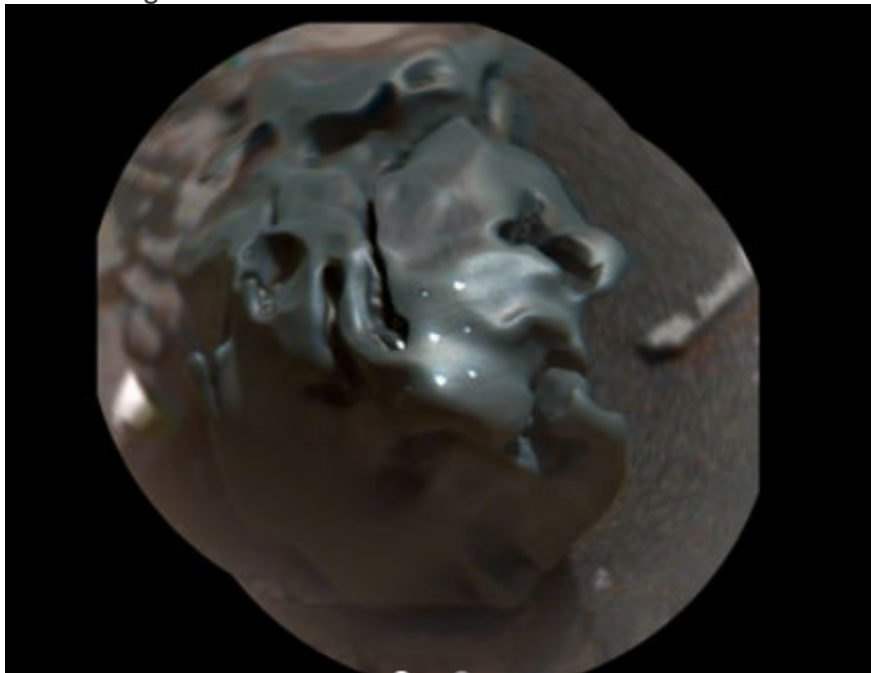

wayne-out-there

Stuff that matters to Wayne

Is the “Mars Alien Egg” Real or a Hoax?

Posted on November 14, 2016 by admin

For anyone who appreciates truth, before you start believing blindly that there were ancient alien worlds on other planets, make sure you understand the following things about the stuff being provided to you by Nasa and their obedient dog named Rover... I mean Curiosity. This image is a composite, not a photograph, nor something in our hands to look at ourselves Their own website says 'composite' - go read it yourself.

Credibility of Crew and Landing Appears 'Highly Questionable' at Best Just watch this and decide if you can trust the folks who bring you the news. I apologize for the periodic profane word here and there and the way he refers to 'idiots' but his presentation is solid. Make sure you make it at least to the Q & A session starting at 15:35 to get a real feel for the folks at top because it ought to really blow your mind...

[embed]https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=U5_I12tAT7U[/embed] So before you order these eggs, make sure at least they are real before you pay the bill ... Answer: No, I would definitely not purchase a used car from Adam Steltzner.

Posted in: Flat Earth | Tagged: Flat Earth, Mars, Nasa, Space | With 0 comments